

SENATOR ROOT ON THE STUMP

Sounds Warning Note to New York Republicans

STAND BY THE TICKET

He Urges Voters of New York State, Dix the Favorite in New York Betting—A Prophecy as to Congress.

New York, Oct. 29.—"If Mr. Taft continues to make as good a president as he is looking now, he will be the natural and inevitable candidate of his party in 1912, unless one thing happens—that the people of the United States shall repudiate the administration of Mr. Taft by such crushing and overwhelming defeat of his party that it will be apparent that Mr. Taft cannot be re-elected."

This was one of the statements made last night by United States Senator Elihu Root in a speech at Manhattan Casino. It was his first speech since the Saratoga convention, and it had been hinted that he would have something to say about questions of the Republican party's national policy involved in the New York state campaign.

Mr. Root addressed himself particularly to those Republicans who may be willing to vote against the Republican gubernatorial candidate for the sake of rebuking Theodore Roosevelt, and he said that Republican defeat in the state this fall would be even more of a blow to the present national administration than to Colonel Roosevelt. In fact, he said, a Democratic victory in New York would more likely turn the next national convention away from a national administration which could not hold its party together and toward Mr. Roosevelt, or to one of the far more radical leaders who are now looming up on the political horizon in the north and middle West.

Contrary to some expectations, Senator Root brought no direct pledge from Colonel Roosevelt regarding his attitude toward the nomination in 1912. He ridiculed the issue of the "new nationalism" as interpreted by the Democratic platform, warmly praising Colonel Roosevelt for his defeat of the "old guard," attacked Tammany hall and warned voters of the danger of putting the offices of state comptroller and state engineer in Tammany's power.

He commended Mr. Stimson's services in the sugar trust prosecution and called attention to the fact that the Standard Wallpaper company, of which Mr. Dix is a director, asked Congress to raise the tariff on wallpaper.

"My guess would be that if the issue in this state were whether Mr. Roosevelt reflected credit and honor on the Republican party, on our state and on our country, or the contrary, there would be a very large majority in the affirmative."

"It is said that we must consider now the nomination for the presidency in 1912. Well, Mr. Taft is president of the United States; a Republican president; a strong, wise, considerate and fearless man. He has the qualities which make a man grow in the estimation of thoughtful people, and lying back of all the clamor and excitement of our political life the American people are thoughtful people. He has grown and is growing and will continue to grow in public esteem."

TIDAL WAVE IN CONGRESS.

A New Prophet Rises in Washington.

Washington, Oct. 29.—John L. Kennedy of Washington, a Republican, a former member of the industrial commission and a pupil of Charles H. Grosvenor of Ohio, in the gentle art of making political forecasts, has issued an analysis of the United States Senate in the sixty-first Congress as its probable completion appears to him. He also predicts with confidence "A political cataclysm which will sweep into the next House a Democratic majority approximating, if not exceeding, that of the fifty-second Congress, which was just short of one hundred and fifty." Mr. Kennedy says that one who cannot peer into the future and behold such a majority must be singularly deficient as a student of political conditions and events.

DIX FAVORITE AT 10 TO 4.

Wall Street's Betting Talent Convinced of Waning Republican Hopes.

New York, Oct. 29.—Wall street's betting talent was so convinced Thursday of the waning possibilities of Republican victory that Dix money was thrown out at practically whatever odds those backing Stimson would take. More money was wagered than on any previous day since the campaign opened, and at the close of the day the price was down to 10 to 4.

It was estimated Thursday evening that at least $20,000 of Dix money had been wagered during the day. The word went around among the betting men early in the day that the Republican state committee had about given up the fight because of the lack of response to appeals for the sinews of war. Democratic confidence was shown more broadly in a number of wagers at odds of 1 to 1 that the party would carry the four states of New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Ohio. The largest bet of the day, one of $10,000 to $4,000, was made on this result.

ROOSEVELT IN ROME, N. Y.

Campaign for Republican State Ticket Goes Busily On.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Theodore Roosevelt's campaign for the Republican state ticket was continued yesterday. He was to leave Utica in time to reach Rome at noon. The speech at Rome was to be followed by one at Lyons in the afternoon and by a night meeting at Rochester.

Col. Roosevelt probably will make speeches in several other towns through which he passes during the day.

ALDRICH LEASES A HOME.

Rhode Island Senator Takes Apartment in New York.

New York, Oct. 29.—There was much speculation as to whether United States

Utterly Wretched

Nervous Prostration Long Endured Before Remedy Was Found.

Miss Minerva Reminger, Upper Merion, Pa., writes: "For several years I had nervous prostration, and was utterly wretched. I lived on bread and oat tea because my stomach would not retain anything else. I took many remedies, but obtained no relief until I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, when I began to gain at once. Am now cured."

Pure, rich blood makes good, strong nerves, and this is why Hood's Sarsaparilla, which purifies and enriches the blood, cures so many nervous diseases. Get it today in usual liquid form or chocolate tablets called Sarsatabs.

Senator Nelson W. Aldrich contemplates making his home in this city after his retirement from the Senate because of the announcement that he had leased the 14-room apartment at 540 Park avenue.

Senator Aldrich has a new home that is one of the show places of Providence. His friends believe the apartment he has leased will be kept merely as a place he can stop at when business calls him to New York.

PINCHOT TELLS PEOPLE'S VIEW

Says They Have No Confidence in Congress, and Think New Tariff Work of "Interests."

Detroit, Oct. 29.—Gifford Pinchot at a luncheon given him by the chamber of commerce yesterday gave what he said were the opinions of the public as he had found them in the last four months in every section of the country. He said he had found "that the people have lost confidence in Congress, because Congress as a whole no longer represents the people who elect it, but the special interests who control it."

He said he had also found that the people believe that presidents, cabinet officers, lawmakers, officials and judges should be servants of the people.

He had not found that the public is united on the subject of the initiative and referendum, and he did not even mention the subject of direct nominations. But he had found that the people believe "that the Payne-Aldrich tariff was made by the servants of special privilege for the benefit and according to the orders of their masters, and that when Congress and the president enacted and approved it, over the just protest of the progressives, they broke faith with the people."

CORNELL CANCELS GAME.

Will Not Play With Williams To-day.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Following a meeting of the Cornell athletic council yesterday morning, Dean A. W. Smith announced that an account of the death of L. B. Paine, the freshman football player, who died Thursday night after having received injuries in a football scrimmage on Oct. 8, and out of respect, as he was a member of the football squad, the game with Williams will not be played to-day.

An autopsy was held yesterday afternoon in an effort to determine how much of this football injury was responsible for the death.

That Paine did not die from injuries received in football practice, was made known last night after an autopsy by Dr. Charles A. Bentz, the Buffalo pathologist. The findings confirmed the opinion of the football coaches and others connected with the game and removes all doubts as to the playing of the balance of the schedule this year. The findings are contained in the telegram sent last night by President J. G. Schurman to Franklin Paine, the boy's father.

WANT BOSTON PLAYER.

Mgr. McAleer of Washington Is After Duffy Lewis.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Manager McAleer of the Washington Americans has opened negotiations with the Boston Americans in the hopes of securing Duffy Lewis to play an outfield position in Washington next season. McAleer is here for a few days en route to the Canadian Northwest for a three weeks' hunting trip, but he has hopes of closing up the deal for an outfielder before he turns his attention exclusively to hunting.

In case Lewis cannot be secured, McAleer will go after Davey Jones of Detroit. What the Washington manager desires is a good team-mate in left guard for Milan in center and Leibold in right, believing that a big improvement can be made by switching Leibold to the other side of the field, where, being a left-handed thrower, Leibold would not be handicapped as is now the case in left.

JOB FOR 30 STUDENTS.

Yale Bureau of Appointments Had 230 Applications for Work.

New Haven, Ct., Oct. 29.—Since the opening of the college year, 230 applications have been received by the Yale bureau of appointments. Of these applicants, positions have been secured for 33 students, academic, Sifford and law students forming a majority of the applicants. Of the positions secured, 11 were where students could secure board for waiting on table and 11 were where rooms were secured in private houses for care of furnaces and other work.

Seventy-nine academic men applied for jobs of furniture, and 23 pieces were given out.

DIES BY FIRE AT 80 YEARS.

Old Lake Captain Burns Up With His Home In Oswego.

Oswego, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Capt. Henry J. Daggett, former Republican assemblyman, was burned to death early yesterday in a fire which destroyed his home in which he lived alone, near New Haven, New York.

Capt. Daggett, who was 80 years old, was a retired vessel owner, and for many years had been politically prominent.

NEW BILLIARD LEAGUE PLAN

Eight Cities Will Place Teams in Three Cushion Circuit

SEASON TO OPEN NOV. 1

Teams Representing Different Cities Will Travel Same as Do Ball Clubs.

If Successful, New League May Expand.

If the plans of the promoters do not fail, billiards will receive a big boom this winter. Great interest is being shown in the work of the new national billiard league, which is laid down along the lines of league baseball, with Johnny Kling, the catcher of the Chicago Nationals, as president. The league has magnates like those who run the affairs of the baseball world at the head and with teams representing all the leading cities contesting for the championship and pennant.

Teams Being Formed.
Teams are being formed representing Brooklyn, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Kansas City and Pittsburgh to play in a series of games throughout the season. Baseball men who take up the billiard game during the winter months as a side line have become interested in this novel scheme. A big schedule of games has been mapped out for the 1910 season, bringing together the crack amateur billiardists of the country, representing the respective cities having teams in the league. Games will be played at home and abroad, the players making their trips just like the ball teams.

Great Interest in New Circuit.
Last winter an intercity tournament was played by three cushion experts of Chicago, St. Louis and Kansas City, and it aroused a lot of interest. The new league will not be a money making enterprise in itself, but it is expected to stimulate interest in three cushion billiards in large cities. If successful the league's scope may be extended to the control of ball line billiards and pool.

The complete schedule adopted follows:

Nov. 1, 2, 3, New York at Boston, Kansas City at Pittsburgh; 4, 7, 8, New York at Brooklyn, Kansas City at Chicago; 9, 10, 11, New York at Philadelphia, Kansas City at St. Louis; 12, 13, Boston at New York, St. Louis at Kansas City; 14, 15, Boston at Brooklyn, St. Louis at Philadelphia; 16, 17, 18, Boston at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Pittsburgh; 19, 20, 21, Brooklyn at Boston, Chicago at St. Louis; 22, 23, 24, Brooklyn at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Chicago; 25, 26, 27, Brooklyn at Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh at Kansas City; 28, 29, Philadelphia at New York, Pittsburgh at St. Louis.
Jan. 2, 3, 4, New York at Pittsburgh; 5, 6, 7, New York at Chicago; 8, 9, 10, 11, New York at St. Louis; 12, 13, Kansas City at Boston; 14, 15, New York at Kansas City; 16, 17, 18, Kansas City at New York; 19, 20, 21, Boston at Pittsburgh; 22, 23, 24, Kansas City at Philadelphia; 25, 26, Boston at Chicago; Feb. 1, 2, Boston at St. Louis; Feb. 3, 4, 5, St. Louis at Philadelphia; 6, 7, 8, Philadelphia at Kansas City; 9, 10, 11, St. Louis at Brooklyn; 12, 13, St. Louis at New York; 14, 15, 16, St. Louis at Boston; 17, 18, 19, Brooklyn at Pittsburgh; 20, 21, Brooklyn at Chicago; 22, 23, 24, Brooklyn at St. Louis.

Boston Boy Flies 1240 Miles in Balloon

Samuel F. Perkins, the Boston boy who flew 1240 miles in the balloon Dusseldorf II, from St. Louis across the inland seas and into the trackless Canadian wilderness, tells the story of his thrilling adventure in the Boston Sunday Globe. The simple narrative of this youngest of the balloonists in the international race far outdoes the wildest romance of Jules Verne. Mr. Perkins illustrates his story with many remarkable photographs, made in the air, and gives for the first time the details of his terrible descent, more than two miles in less than 10 minutes, and his sufferings in the cruel Canadian scrub.

A RECORD IN A GALE.

9,000 Foot Altitude Claimed by Johnstone.

Aviation Field, Belmont Park, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Arch Hoxsey at noon yesterday dropped out of a windy sky into the aerodrome here, having flown twenty-five miles straight into the teeth of a twenty-five mile wind from Brentwood, where he landed Thursday night after his record-breaking flight of Thursday. As he cut off his engine and came to rest in front of his tent there was a chorus of yells from the hangars, as every person along the whole line charged down on the daring aviator.

Orville Wright, who had walked out on the field as the aeroplane was swooping down, was the first to greet him. "I'm glad to see you back, Arch," he said, as he shook hands. Then he stepped back quickly out of the range of the photographers who were leveling their batteries.

Hoxsey said that the flight yesterday morning was uneventful, as he had no trouble whatever, except when nearing the ground, where the wind was puffing. "The conditions were much better up over 1,500 feet," he continued. "I had a little difficulty in rising, as the trees grow so close I had to jump right over them. I followed the railroad to Hicksville, where I turned out to avoid the town."

"Was your machine all right this morning?" asked one of the interviewers. "Yes" was the reply. "A farmer took care of it for me. He tied it up with a hawser strong enough to hold the Mauretania."

Hoxsey added that the only thing that bothered him this morning was the cold, which was more severe yesterday than Thursday. Hoxsey came to the grounds here yesterday morning for a few minutes to get gasoline and oil and with two helpers started for Brentwood. "I saw the storm coming," said Hoxsey, "and thought I would ride it out. I could see the dust and paper articles being driven ahead, but though it would not reach me, I was sorry afterward that I had not come down as I had a fight every inch of the way. I am now going to go over and fix the machine back and will be here by noon. The machine was not damaged in the slightest when I landed and was safely covered with canvas."

"That's better than the old days of the automobile," said Charles M. Manly, of the aviation committee, as Hoxsey landed in front of his tent. "He did not have to be towed back." Hoxsey's biography was immediately taken in charge by the United States signal corps officers, who will give out his altitude figures later. Johnstone had fifty-five miles to fly from Midland village, where he landed Thursday night, blown by the same storm that carried away Hoxsey, and was not so punctual. At noon there was no sign of him. He believes he has a new world's altitude record, but the last time he guessed he was 1,500 feet out of the way, and the biograph readings will tell the tale.

THINKS R. R.'S UNDERVALUED.

Mann Fears That They Are Worth More Than Stock and Bonds Issues.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Two of the favorite doctrines advocated by snippers in their arguments over railway rate-making—physical valuation of stock and bond issues—were depreciated by Congressman James R. Mann of Illinois, chairman of the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce, at the annual banquet of the National Industrial league Thursday night.

Asserting that in adopting a policy of government regulation of railroads, the country had taken a step forward which will never be retraced, Mr. Mann said that as a result of the Mann-Elkins amendments to the interstate commerce law "nobody in the country has ever been given such autocratic powers as the interstate commerce commission."

"I am not prepared to say that we ought to have a physical valuation of railroad property," said Mr. Mann. "I am inclined to think that a physical valuation to-day, with the great enhancement of property, especially at terminal points, would prove that the railroads are worth more than the amount of their stock and bond issue, and I have no desire to have a scheme adopted that will necessarily result in raising railway rates."

"Railroad securities constitute a delicate mechanism," he continued, "the slightest jarring of which might produce great injury to the country, and it would be a catastrophe to enact legislation that would retard the development of the railroads or prevent the raising of money to buy new equipment and trackage."

"However, Congress will, in some way, regulate securities, to the end that fictitious bonds cannot be issued or stock watered on which the shippers are expected to pay interest or dividends."

COURTED GIRL BY WIRELESS.

Cornell Man and Stamford Fiancee Flashed Their Vows Through the Air.

New York, Oct. 29.—Henry Schlobohm, a young lawyer of Yonkers, made public Thursday a letter he received from Cornell university saying that Leslie T. Sutherland, an instructor in chemistry in that institution, has announced his engagement to Miss Viola Knapp of Stamford, Ct., following a romantic courtship.

Sutherland and Schlobohm were chums at Cornell and were graduated the same year. Schlobohm began a legal career, but Sutherland continued his studies and expects to receive the degree of doctor of philosophy next June.

Sutherland in 1907 and 1908 was a member of the Cornell football team. Miss Knapp first met Sutherland at a football game between Princeton and Cornell. Sutherland was a participant in the contest, and Miss Knapp was a spectator. A friend introduced them.

Upon Miss Knapp's return to Stamford, Sutherland determined to devise a means to offset the disadvantage caused by their being unable to meet save at infrequent intervals. The letter to Schlobohm says that Sutherland and Miss Knapp were experimenters in wireless telegraphy. At Sutherland's suggestion they constructed stations and exchanged messages by wireless.

The wedding will take place immediately Sutherland receives his degree.

INCREASE IN IMPORTS.

Those of United States for Nine Months Aggregated $1,172,400,000.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Imports of the United States for the nine months ending with September, 1910, aggregated in value $1,172,400,000, as compared with $1,085,800,000 for the corresponding period of 1909, according to statistics prepared by the department of commerce and labor.

The greatest importations for the nine months of 1910 were sugar, $103,100,000; crude India rubber $78,900,000; hides and skins $70,300,000, and coffee $43,300,000.

PROF. LEWIS ACCEPTS.

Arraigns Payne-Aldrich Tariff and Those Responsible For It.

Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 29.—In a letter to Francis B. Woodbury, secretary of the Democratic congressional convention, Prof. Edward Morgan Lewis accepts the Democratic nomination for Congress in the first district. He writes in part:—

"The dominant issue of the last congressional campaign was the revision of the tariff. The Republican party pledged itself to a revision; this revision every thoughtful citizen construed as one that would bring relief from the intolerable burden which he had carried so long. We know now that promise has not been fulfilled, and that a solemn pledge has been completely repudiated."

"This fact it is not necessary for us of the Democratic party to affirm; it has been affirmed in unmistakable terms by the friends of the tariff themselves. Even President Taft confesses that the tariff is unsatisfactory and the best he can do in support of it is to 'damn it with faint praise.'"

"Shall the senators and the congressmen who participated in this political crime be returned or not? That is the question of the hour. And that is the question that we should put to the voters of this state and this district. I shall be glad to help our party put that question."

"I shall put this question to the voters of the first Massachusetts district as many times till the day of election as time will allow. Is my extended and respected opponent who aided and abetted in the perpetration of this hoax by voting consistently on every schedule of the tariff bill, with the single exception of the friends of the tariff, worthy of your continued confidence and support?"

"But the method by which this travesty on the 'square deal' was enacted was, if such a thing were possible, even more reprehensible than the ignominious result. That method was Censorism, or Aldrichism, which is but another form for the process by which the powers and the machinery of government are manipulated by the interests, for the interests."

"The Payne-Aldrich tariff bill is, let all men know, a bill that was dictated by the interests, secretly, insidiously. That statement may sound to our independent and Republican friends like a 'Democratic sneer.' But not so. It is the shout of triumphant insurgency and Democracy everywhere."

MARRIED WOMEN IN DANGER.

May Lose Government Positions if Husbands Can Support Them.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Married women in the government's employ who have husbands able to support them will be in danger of losing their positions if a recommendation which is about to be made to the various departmental economy committees is favorably received. Many unmarried women, who have lost their positions through the introduction of recent economies, in making applications for reinstatement, have suggested that they be given places now held by married women whose husbands are able to support them.

It is understood such a recommendation may be made to the economy committee recently established by President Taft, of which Frederick A. Cleveland of New York is head.

OUTLOOK UNPLEASANT

Great Mills at Olneyville Again On Short Time.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 29.—The thousands of operatives in Olneyville, the largest woolen worsted manufacturing in the country, who had hoped that the fall season would bring better conditions in the mills there, have been disappointed by the announcement that practically all the large mills have returned to the four days a week schedule.

This makes the situation as depressing as it has ever been during the long period of curtailment, and the outlook for the winter is gloomy.

It is believed that hundreds of operatives will leave this section to seek employment in other places.
